

Global and National Health

HLTH 1036 Study Period 2 - 2021

Internal - City East Campus

Introduction

Welcome

Welcome to 'Global and National Health'. This is a 4.5 unit course within Stage 1 of the Bachelor of Nursing Program.

This course offers important insights for students embarking upon a career as a registered nurse, as it will provide you with the theory and principles to consider public and population health in a global society. When you graduate, you will be in a privileged position where you have the opportunity to work with diverse people and groups within society. Understanding your place to deliver healthcare within a diverse world is one of the key focuses of this course.

To achieve this goal, the course will explore ones' own values, beliefs and culture and how this informs the delivery of healthcare in Australia and globally. As a conceptual course, students may find the topic and assessments challenging to their world view and upbringing. We would like to encourage you to embrace new information provided, with a view to integrating such insights into your practice as a registered nurse in the 21st century.

Students will actively participate in this course, using an Inquiry Based Learning (IBL) approach focusing on the stages of connecting, questioning, investigating, construction, expressing and reflecting. Students are provided with weekly IBL worksheets and are expected to come prepared to tutorials with the connect activities already completed and ready for discussion with your peers.

The Course Outline provides information about the course including: objectives, assessment requirements, relevant legislative requirements, University policy and the Course Calendar. Students would need to become familiar with this information which forms the basis of your course work.

We wish you well with the successful engagement and completion of this course!

Academic Integrity

Academic integrity is the foundation of university life and is fundamental to the reputation of UniSA and its staff and students. Academic integrity means a commitment by all staff and students to act with honesty, trustworthiness, fairness, respect and responsibility in all academic work.

An important part of practising integrity in academic work is showing respect for other people's ideas and being honest about how they have contributed to your work. This means taking care not to represent the work of others as your own. Using another person's work without proper acknowledgement is considered Academic Misconduct, and the University takes this very seriously.

The University of South Australia expects students to demonstrate the highest standards of academic integrity so that its degrees are earned honestly and are trusted and valued by its students and their employers. To ensure this happens, the University has policies and procedures in place to promote academic integrity and manage academic misconduct. For example, work submitted electronically by students for assessment will be examined for copied and un-referenced text using the text comparison software Turnitin <http://www.turnitin.com>.

It is an offence for any person or company to provide academic cheating services to students of Australian universities, irrespective of whether the service is provided by an Australian or overseas operator (see Tertiary Education Quality and Standards Agency Amendment \(Prohibiting Academic Cheating Services\) Bill 2019 - <https://www.legislation.gov.au/Details/C2020A00078>). "Academic cheating services" includes providing or undertaking work for students, where that work forms a substantial part of an assessment task.

More information about academic integrity and what constitutes academic misconduct can be found in Section 9 of the Assessment Policies and Procedures Manual (APPM): <http://i.unisa.edu.au/policies-and-procedures/codes/assessment-policies/>. The Academic Integrity Module explains in more detail how students can work with integrity at the University: <https://lo.unisa.edu.au/mod/book/view.php?id=252142>
